Chapter 1

This placeholder chapter stands in for the real manuscript so the storefront has a genuine PDF to deliver.

When an administrator uploads the finished book from the admin panel, this file is replaced and every customer who owns the title downloads the new version instead.

The download itself is served through an authorisation check: the file lives outside the public web root, and a request is only fulfilled when the reader either claimed a free title or has a paid order for it.

Purchased books can be downloaded again from the library at any time, up to the re-download limit configured by the store.
